Today's companies are continually seeking cost-effective ways to acquire or expand computing resources. SGI's worldwide remanufactured products program offers a broad range of high-quality workstations and servers at affordable prices to meet ongoing system requirements. As your strategic supplier, we also deliver disks and memory, as well as CPU and graphics upgrades, to help your business stay productive. Whether you are upgrading one system or 50, SGI maintains an extensive inventory to ensure timely delivery and installation.

Expand Your Purchasing Power

Some organizations assume they cannot afford to own an SGI system. However, by taking advantage of competitively priced remanufactured SGI systems, upgrades, and peripherals, your company gains the power, performance, and visualization capabilities of SGI products at a price that meets your budget.

Protect Your Investment and Optimize Productivity

Many of our customers have already made a significant investment in SGI systems. Being able to scale existing computing environments with additional systems, upgrades, and peripherals protects your organization's investment for the long term. Remanufactured systems and upgrades can result in increased response times and superior throughput that can translate into higher productivity and faster time to market.

Backed by SGI Quality and Support

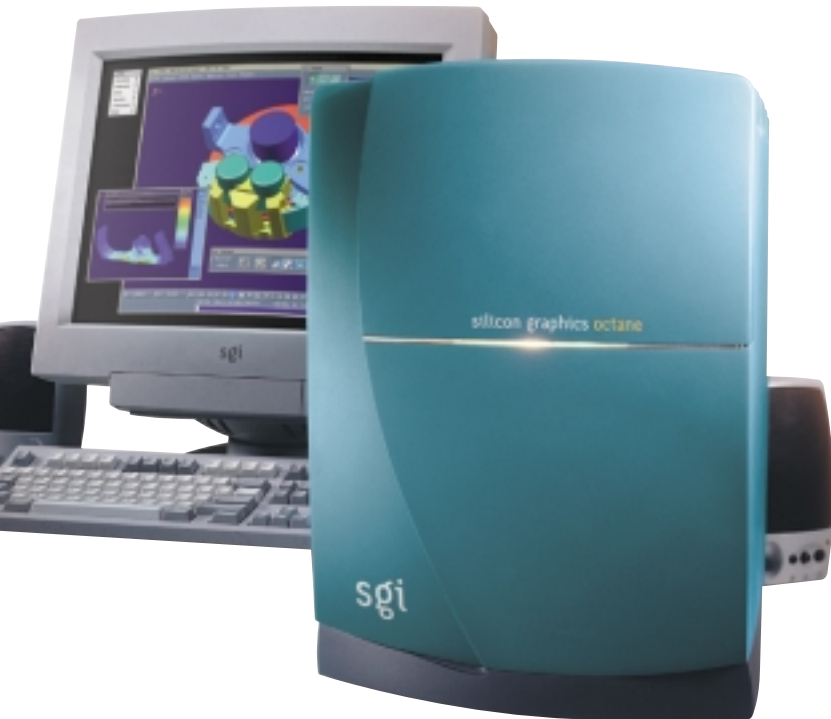

Our products are remanufactured in SGI's ISO 9002 certified and compliant manufacturing facility. They carry the same warranty as new SGI products and are eligible for the same extended warranties and ongoing support contracts. You also eliminate any hidden costs associated with service readiness or software licensing.

Rely on SGI

SGI is committed to long-term investment protection by helping to build your business through flexible and dependable solutions. Your purchase of remanufactured products enables SGI to offer better trade-in and financing options, enhancing your ability to migrate to newer SGI technology in the future.
