

When Compaq closes a door, SGI opens a window.

How do you turn your Compaq Alpha into a price/performance monster? Trade it in.

Like many Compaq users, you may be disappointed by the news that Compaq has abandoned its Alpha processors. Well, don't feel completely orphaned, we've created a special offer expressly for you. It's an open window of opportunity to trade your Alpha systems for SGI™ microprocessors. In fact, SGI™ Origin™ 300 is one of the most powerful computers at any price point, and its frugal power consumption makes it even more attractive. Not only will you be leveraging your investment in your old Alpha processors into a new family of leading-edge products, but you'll also be joining a company known for loyalty to its customers. So you're not just trading in, you're trading up.

For a limited time, trade up to the SGI™ Origin™ family of servers featuring the ultrastable IRIX® operating system. Get from $650 up to $2,500 in trade-in credits. We're making it easy and cost-effective for you to migrate to SGI.

Great things come in small packages.

Don't be fooled by its small footprint. SGI Origin 300 delivers affordable, world-class performance combined with flexible modularity. Its revolutionary SGI™ NUMAflex™ approach to modular computing delivers maximum sustained performance in an ultradense, 3.5-inch, rack-mountable chassis. SGI Origin 300 is ideal for computational throughput, media streaming, or complex data management. It is scalable from 2 to 32 MIPS® processors with 32GB of shared memory or up to 16 processors with as many as 56 PCI slots. Storage options allow up to eight SCSI disks—over half a terabyte of data capacity—in only 3.5 inches of rack space. Our state-of-the-art storage system can be optimized for either fast-retrieval or deep-archive configurations.

The powerful SGI Origin 300 server offers flexible solutions for a wide range of disciplines and industries, from media, sciences, and manufacturing to government and energy. All this and a great trade-in too...what's not to like?

Like all killer deals, time is limited.

We can only offer this great deal until December 31, 2001, so act now. After all, we are not just giving you an excellent trade-in deal on great products; we're offering you a trade up to a new level of user-manufacturer relationship. Ask our users and you'll discover that no one takes customer satisfaction to heart quite like SGI.
