

Our Flexible, High-Performance, Integrated Storage Solutions Come with a Free SAN

Our Bottom Line Is Always Total Performance

SGI's reputation for performance, flexibility, and reliability extends from our entry-level disk arrays to larger enterprise-class storage systems and custom SANs. SGI handles complex data management by reducing complexity so your information is secure and available when you need it, where you need it and you can focus on your core business.

The SGI® Total Performance 9400 Storage Array

The TP9400 is the highest-performing RAID storage subsystem in its class. It combines end-to-end Fibre Channel technology with state-of-the-art disk drives, parallel high-performance controllers with multi-functional cache, and advanced cache management. The TP9400 can enhance the throughput of almost any application.

FNMOC has demanding requirements. The operational focus of our work, combined with the security requirements we must deal with, push the envelope of overall system architecture technology.

—Jeane Frew, Technical Director, U.S. Navy Fleet Numerical Meteorology and Oceanography Center

The SGI® Total Performance 9100 Storage Array

The TP9100 RAID storage array offers midrange performance and features at an entry-level price. The full-fiber solution is highly modular and eminently expandable.

The SGI Clustered XFS high-performance shared filesystem has allowed us to tremendously increase our productivity while reducing nonproductive waiting time.

—Dr. Arthur Toga, Director of Research, UCLA LONI
